CUBAN AMERICANS GET SECOND JOLT

President Menocal's Secretario Particular Arrives and Writes Curt Note.

LAWRENCE IS UNMOVED

Still Occupies $40 Rent Free Clubroom and Promotes an Auto Show for Havana.

You know really the whole thing to se positively stily that one shouldn't waste his time bothering about it, but some people are so unreasonable and then one just must protect his own rights. And then you know it was raining something frightful yesterday afternoon, and one couldn't be expected to take his little Cuban American society, that was hardly able to walk, right from its $40 rent free Ritz-Carlton nursery out in

be storm and all that sort of thing.
Of course Mr. Lawrence felt a bit distressed about the whole affair with all that the newspapers had to say, if you know what one means, but a $40 suite is a $40 suite, and with the hard war times coming on and the cost of bringing up one's own little society being so much higher than in the old days, when you could have some nice quiet club all your own—say, like the American Club or the White Cross—for almost nothing —well, you know one must sacrifice

So Mr. Lawrence spent the day nursing his newest little society and trying by hand to bring it back to all the lusty young future it had before this Mr. Knight and his Republic of Cuba Press Bureau came along last Saturday and said all those things about the little thing's own godfather.

Why Mr. Keller Worries.

And four stories below Mr. Keller, who is manager of the Ritz-Carlton, the unhappy host for both Mr. Lawrence and his fine young society, tried to figure out how he could put 'em right out in the street where a taxicab or something the street where a taxicab or something might run over them and all without getting his name in the papers or having the rough end of a suit for a couple of million deliars worth of damages for an ejection handed to him by Mr. Lawrence. And then over at the McAlpin—just to be fair about press against all the street of the

be fair about press agenting all the hotels in New York-Director Knight and his press bureau went into executive session with Eusebic L. Ampianu, Secretaric Particular del Presidente de la Republica de Cuba, who just reached our beautiful city in the morning, so that when the representatives of all the great news-papers of Nassau street and Park Row and some others called up on invitation at 3 o'clock all wet and dry and expecting to get a lot of real Cuban cignerities fust like Mr. Lawrence gives out to those who call around at the $40 clubrooms of the little society, and not getting anything but a thirty-five canada of the property of the cigner that Director Knight bought tave cigar that Director Knight bought downstairs at the United Cigars Stores —well, they gave out a lot about Cuba having 12,000 soldiers and a lot of sugar that was worth about eighty cents i pound or something like that, and ther Director Knight slipped each of the rep-resentatives of the great newspapers a purple typed statement on sidnny paper that's just like all the the paper the Republic of Cuba press bureau uses, and he said: "Well, now, this is just a little something that El Senor Secretary (sort of trying out his Spanieh on the inno-cent reporters) wants you to have."

Straightway to Mr. Lawrence.

So the reporters all folded the inti-mate statement up in a tight little wad and, being perfectly honorable and hard

"Oh, yes, this young man, this Senor Asplazu, is the President's typewriter. his note book and he has a little office President at the Palacio I have never had any occasion to deal with his type-

Then Mr. Lawrence handed back the purple typed statement on the skinny The steel plant of Milliken Brothers paper and smiled as if it was all only at Mariners Harbor, Staten Island, was a good little joke anyway. Nobody doubted it being a joke and the only point of discussion is just who is it all con—the Ritz-Carlton, Mr. Lawrence, the dear little Cuban American Society, President Menocal, who is its honorary president; Senor George Reno, head of the Department of Information and the States Repair of the Department of Information and the the Department of Information and the Staten Island Sound. The amount paid special friend of Mr. Lawrence at the was not made public, front in Havana; Director Knight, the Republic of Cuba Press Bureau or Eusebio L. Azpiazu, Secretario Particu-Stapleton Tires of Cheese Odors. lar, &c., &c. After all nobody signed the statement and probably nobody has read it all the way through. What's the use of getting all het up about a little statement, anyhow, when anybody with a rented typewriter can peck out one with their two first fingers. The first paragraph ought to be enough: "In view of the recent activities of Francklyn Lawrence, who has announced himself as chairman of the 'Cuban American Society,' and of the unwar-ranted use he has made of correspondice with Cuban officials, and of the fact that there are no active members of this society, which has none other than a corporate existence, the Cuban Government desires to state that it has no con-nection with Lawrence nor with the Cuban American Society, and that any metion with Lawrence nor with the Cuban American Society, and that any intimation by Lawrence that he is acting by the authority or with the assent of the Cuban Government is unwarranted and gratuitous."

He's Vexed, but Not Pat Out.

Right now, of course, it looks as if the added reenforcements might bring about new attacks that would dislode Gen. Lawrence and his little society. But one rever can tell about the fortunes of war or high finance. Mr. Lawrence doesn't seem to be so terribly worried after all; he has his little society. # SIR EDWARD CARSON GOADS NAVY CRITICS

Says They Are Political Enemies or Disgruntled Over Treatment.

London, June 20.—The attitude of Lady Aberdeen, Bishop de Landes, Col. the British navy toward its critics Williams of the British recruiting misamong press and public was for a long sion, J. Clive Bayley, the British Consul; among press and public was for a long time one of amused tolerance. Of late it has grown more restive, and many naval Charles leaders now believe that the time has come when the navy must present a of recruiting he was proud of what the really belligerent front toward its detractors.

"It would take me a long time to answer the criticams which are being and the British navy," said Sir Edward Carson, First Lord of the Admiralty, the other day: "I can divide the critica into several categories. There are my political critics. I despise them in the middle of war. Then there are critics who have been disappointed in the past. There are many of them. When you read criticisms of Sir John Jellicoe try to find out what is the origin of them.

"But after all it does not really matter; there will always be grumblings and growlings. Let them grumble and growl; let us get on with our work. The work of the Admiralty, the work of the great British navy, is done silently and courageously. It is done in the day, it is done in the night. It is done every hour and every minute and I tell you with all confidence that I believe in the whole history of the British navy there never was a time at which our men displayed greater heroism and courage than they do at the present moment."

A group of naval men the same afternavy's critics. "The navy has failed un," was one of his remarks which they quoted: "there has been lack of energy in tackling the U-hoat menace. New men are wanted, and changes in the higher command."
